New York, NY – June 11, 2015 – Last week the world was rocked by an exciting announcement from celebrated rapper and pop-culture icon, Method Man. The Wu-Tang Clan’s best known member announced plans to release his first album in nearly a decade entitled, ‘The Meth Lab’, this August 21st via Hanz On Music/Tommy Boy (Ghostface Killah, Sheek Louch).

On June 2nd Mef dropped the album’s title track, “The Meth Lab,” which features guest verses from Hanz On and Streetlife, to a deafening response and this week unveiled the official music video, which is currently spinning on MTV. Keeping up with his Breaking Bad-themed treatment (as seen in the album’s hilarious animated teaser trailer that Nerdist debuted on June 1st - watch here), the video features the now iconic Winnebago and the trio cookin’ up some pure hip-hop for all the Mef heads out there.
